

Dear Christy

Thank you for speaking at Glenville State College on Tuesday, February, 2008. I believe those who attended benefited greatly from your presentation. Personally, I have been using your phrase, "Snap and Switch" to promote positive thinking in our office and around campus.

I've also several people stop by the office and ask for your book, "How to tell If your College friends are Suicidal and what to do about it!", and several have visited your website. It was great to have you on our campus to share your story about suicide, which is one of the major issues facing Student Life in higher education. I'm definitely going to recommend you to other Student Activities Coordinator's in West Virginia at our annual conference this fall.

Thank you, Christy, for the positive thinking, image and heart that you gave our campus.

Very Truly,
